Quad City Music Guild is a non-profit organization dedicated to providing high-quality musical theater entertainment in Moline, Illinois. This fund was created to support the theatre and its programs.

Quad City Music Guild has always provided the excitement of live theater exclusively using Quad City area performers. The founders' decision to use only local, non-professional residents in all production aspects became a governing principle of the organization.

The organization relies heavily on the volunteer spirit for all aspects of their performances, including the directing, acting, choreography, orchestration, lighting, sound, set construction, and concessions. Guild workers range from senior citizens to grade school youngsters, contributing countless hours of community involvement to the Guild.

Quad City Music Guild continues its extraordinary efforts to give back to the community which has graciously supported the organization for over 70 years, providing community outreach to various organizations throughout the region, including invitations to assisted living centers and other entities to attend dress rehearsals of every production at the theater.

With a storied history of high-quality musical entertainment and community involvement beyond the 21st century, you are cordially invited along with your family and friends to be part of this long-treasured Quad City experience. The Quad City Music Guild extends its appreciation to all for their ongoing support.
